

The Courageous Heart: An Introduction to the Diamond Approach™

Thursday, December 5, 2013 7:00 PM— Houston Jung Center— 5200 Montrose Blvd.
Houston, TX

How can we authentically relate to others? The courageous heart is willing to love regardless of the conditions that are present. Whether a friend, family, or love relationship, the capacity to work with the difficulties that arise in relationship develops over time and involves working with barriers to real relating. When we see what is actually happening between two people and allow it to happen, the relationship potential becomes more real. We can see ourselves and other more as we are than as we want or expect them to be.
